Third Party EFT Transfers: You may authorize a third party to initiate electronic funds transfers between your account and the third party's account. These transfers to make or receive payment may be one-time occurrences or may recur as directed by you. These transfers may use the Automated Clearing House (ACH) or other payment network. The transaction will require you to provide the third party with your account number and credit union information. Thus, you should only provide your credit union and account information (whether over the phone, the internet, or via some other method) to trusted third parties whom you have authorized to initiate these EFTs. Examples of these transfers include, but are not limited to:

- 1) Point of Purchase (POP) – With this type of transaction, a check you write to a merchant for the purchase of goods and services is converted to an electronic transaction at the time of payment. You write out your check in the usual manner and give it to the merchant. The merchant will electronically read your check, mark it VOID and return it to you along with a special receipt detailing your now-electronic transaction. The merchant will request you to sign the receipt authorizing conversion of the check. Your monthly statement will describe your POP transactions including the check number and the merchant name. You may stop payment on a POP transaction if it has not already been paid and if you give us sufficient time to act on your request. You must also give us the dollar amount and the check number. If this information is not an exact match, we may not be able to stop the transaction. You will have to settle directly with the merchant about any disputes you have about goods and services for which you pay with a POP transaction.
- 2) Accounts Receivable Truncated Checks (ARC) – Some merchants or service providers that you pay on a regular basis, such as utilities and insurance companies, may convert the check you mail to them into an electronic debit from the account upon which the check was written. The debit will appear on your account statement with a check number and the payee's name. Your check will not be returned to you by the payee.
- 3) Electronic Returned Check or Draft Charge – Some merchants or service providers will initiate an electronic funds transfer to collect a charge in the event a check or draft is returned for insufficient funds.
- 4) Electronic Check Conversion/ Electronic Returned Check Charge – You may authorize a merchant or other payee to make a one-time electronic payment from your checking account using information from your check to pay for purchases or pay bills or initiate an electronic funds transfer to collect a charge in the event a check or draft is returned for insufficient funds. You are considered to have authorized these electronic fund transfers if you complete the transaction after being told (orally or by posted notice or notice sent to you) that the transfer may be processed electronically or if you sign a written authorization.
- 5) Bill Payer Services – Many bill payment service providers will send a payment to a payee or payees as an electronic transaction. A payment authorized by you under a computer (or other electronic) bill-payment service is considered an electronic funds transfer unless the terms of the service explicitly state that all payments or all payments to a particular named payee will be solely by check or paper instrument. Your monthly statement will show your electronic bill payment transactions including the payee's name.
- 6) Telephone-Initiated (TEL) or Internet-Initiated (WEB) Transaction – With this type of transaction you provide an authorization over the telephone or internet to a company or merchant to transmit a single ACH debit entry to your account to collect payment for goods or services. By providing your credit union information (routing and account number), you authorize the initiation of an ACH debit. Information relating to the transaction (i.e. company or merchant name, amount of transaction) will be provided to you on your monthly statement. You may stop payment on a TEL or WEB transaction if it has not already been paid and if you give us a reasonable opportunity to act upon the stop payment order.
